

Exercises for 03-Typed variables

Typed-Variables

1. If you want to count the number of goals in a game of handball, an integer would be a good type for a variable. Write a declaration of an integer variable.
2. If you want to store the name of a person in a variable, a String be a good type for that name. Write a declaration of a String variable.
3. You want to store the mean value of the results on an exam, a float variable will be nice. Write a declaration of a float variable.